Sustainability Project

The sustainability project is a green initiative developed by James Bennett to support the UN, IFLA and ALIA Sustainability goals by placing less books into landfill. By joining the partnership with James Bennett, books that are weeded from Oberon Library will be redistributed to communities, or in some cases sold with funds returning to Oberon Library and/or a nominated charity, or pulped and repurposed.

Oberon Library reserves the right to determine how many and which deleted stock is sent via the sustainability project and those kept back for the FOOLs book sales.

Controversial Material

Oberon Library provides materials representing a range of views in diverse fields including politics, social issues and religion, no matter how controversial or objectionable these ideas may be to some people in a democratic society. Materials prohibited by law are not included in the collection. It is the responsibility of parents or guardians, not of Library staff, to determine the suitability of materials used by their children.
